

INSPIRE AND MOTIVATE YOUR TEAM WITH THE 2009-2010 WEBINAR SERIES FOR PROFESSIONAL & TECHNICAL WOMEN

In this economy, employees are being asked to wear many hats to help their companies succeed. Challenging times call for cost-effective skill development tools. Invent Your Future has expanded its webinar series with six thought-provoking web courses delivered by technical and non-technical experts and moderated by award-winning CBS 5 broadcast journalist, Sydnie Kohara. Call us today and learn how to fast-track your learning programs with exciting new topics.

Cost effective - as low as $8 per participant

Plan a lunch and learn session for your workgroup, department or women's network. A scalable, high value solution at a very low cost.

Applicable to a variety of women

Managers, individual contributors, consultants, and entrepreneurs in engineering, marketing, finance, sales, customer support and more.

Dynamic learning environment

Arrange follow-up sessions to discuss key takeaways and strategize on applying the tips and techniques to drive business results. The webinars focus on building critical skills in areas such as leadership development, communication and negotiation.

“The IYF webinar series has brought thought leaders and inspiring stories to many women who could simply not travel to attend a seminar. Our women's network finds these very helpful as women look for a broader perspective to supplement their learning.”
